HISTORY OF RED WINGS AND OLYMPIA

The story of professional hockey in Detroit officially began on September 25, 1926, when a syndicate of local businessmen purchased an NHL franchise and then imported the entire Victoria Cougars team of the Western Canada League to represent the Motor City.

Although they were called the Detroit Cougars, the new club was actually homeless its first season. Construction of Olympia Stadium had just begun and the team played its home games across the river at the Border Cities Arena in Windsor, Ontario.

The Cougars played their first NHL game on November 18, 1926, and lost to the Boston Bruins, 2-0. Of the 44 games played that season, the Detroiters won only 12; finishing in last place in the NHL.

But the following year things began to look better. Jack Adams, a 10-year NHL star, replaced Art Duncan as manager-coach, beginning a 35-year career with the club. And the team was no longer homeless.

Construction of Olympia had been completed and the Cougars played their first game in the Stadium on November 22, 1927 against the defending champion Ottawa Senators. Appropriately, Detroit's Johnny Sheppard scored the first goal in the new building. But the Cougars were blanked the rest of the way and the Senators won the game, 2-1.

The Detroiters went on to play .500 hockey that season, finishing in fourth place in the NHL. In their next two seasons, the Cougars finished third and then fourth again.

Detroit's press representatives, trying to improve the team's luck, changed the club's name to "Falcons." But the next year the finish was the same—the Falcons were fourth.

In 1933 an American industrialist offered to buy the Falcons. James Norris purchased the Detroit Club and renamed it "Red Wings," importing the new name from Montreal where he had played hockey with a team called the "Winged Wheelers" of the Montreal Athletic Association. The insignia of the group - a winged wheel - struck Mr. Norris as a natural for a hockey team representing the Motor City. (The emblem became an automobile tire with a flying wing attached, and except for minor artistic variations, the emblem has remained the same).

It was then that progress began. The new Red Wings won a league championship their first season under Norris' ownership—the first of 13 regular-season championships. In 1935-36, they captured both the NHL title and the coveted Stanley Cup—the prized trophy they have won a total of seven times.

The most amazing string of titles in NHL history was recorded from 1948-49 to 1954-55 when the Red Wings won a record seven consecutive league championships. During the same span the club captured the Stanley Cup four times.

Over the years, some of the great names in hockey have been associated with the Detroit Hockey Club. Thiry-four RedWings are enshrined in the NHL's Hall of Fame, including executives James Norris, Jack Adams and Bruce A. Norris. More than 80 Red Wings have been voted to NHL All-Star teams, while Detroit players have captured almost 40 individual league trophies.

Since 1933, ownership of the team has remained in the Norris family. The elder Norris served as club president until his death in 1952, and was succeeded by his daughter, Mrs. Marguerite Norris Riker. In 1955, Mr. Norris' son, Bruce, took over as club president and has served ever since.

BRUCE A. NORRIS
President and Owner

As he enters his twenty-fourth year as president and owner of the Detroit Red Wings and Olympia Stadium, Bruce A. Norris is both confident and optimistic. He's confident after seeing his beloved Red Wings emerge from the worst team in the NHL following the 1976-77 season, to a second-place Norris Division team in 1977-78. In only one season, his team went from the basement with 41 points to 78 points and the playoffs.

He's optimistic that the rebuilding program started by general manager Ted Lindsay should shortly pay off, and once again the Detroit Red Wings will be restored to the prominence it once had in the NHL.

Mr. Norris is president and chairman of the board for the Norris Grain Company and Norin Corporation, but is also kept busy overseeing and maintaining his many other diversified business interests started by his late father James Norris Sr.

As an avid sports fan, he derives much satisfaction with his involvement in hockey where he played during his collegiate years at Yale. He succeeded his sister, Marguerite Norris Riker, as owner of the Wings, and continues the Norris-family ownership which began when his father purchased the club in 1933.

An ardent supporter and loyal fan of the Red Wings, Bruce Norris has worked hard in hockey's behalf to keep it on a high plane, and has served twice as Chairman of the NHL Board of Governors. He was inducted into NHL's Hockey Hall of Fame in 1969.

Executive Staff

MARGUERITE NORRIS RIKER

Marguerite Norris Riker preceded her brother, Bruce, as president of the Red Wings, serving from December 14, 1952 until October 27, 1955. During her tenure, the Wings finished first all three seasons, winning the Stanley Cup twice. She is the only woman to have her name engraved on the "symbol of hockey supremacy". In addition, Mrs. Riker holds the distinction of being the youngest chief executive in NHL history and the only woman to hold the position. She will continue her post this season as Executive Vice President for the hockey club and Olympia Stadium.

Mrs. Riker is a graduate of Smith College in Northhampton, Massachusetts; and along with her family, spends much of the time at their farm in Connecticut.

LINCOLN CAVALIERI

As general manager of Olympia Stadium and Vice President/Assistant Secretary of the Detroit Hockey Club, Lincoln Cavalieri is responsible for coordinating all activities between the two areas. This position with the Stadium encompasses over seeing the entire daily operation of the facility including box office concessions, seating and publications - as well as negotiations of contracts for radio and television for the Hockey Club.

Along with Mr. Bruce Norris, Linc was instrumental in negotiating the contract with the City of Detroit regarding Olympia's management's acquisition of the new riverfront arena. The 20,000 seat facility, scheduled for completion in 1979, will be the new/future home of the Detroit Red Wings.

Among his various and diversified responsibilities, Mr. Cavalieri is committed to offering a variety of top-related events, and keeping Olympia Stadium in the forefront of the nation's entertainmant market.

At his Testimonial Dinner, TED LINDSAY accepting trophy from Sports Commissioner Nick Kerbawy in honor of Ted's devotion to the sports world and for providing the Detroit fans a first class aggressive hockey team.

TED LINDSAY

General Manager

When Ted Lindsay arrived on the Red Wings' scene last March 1977 as general manager, he promised the Detroit fans an aggressive hockey team, a team that would give 150% (. .or else), and an all-out effort by every player. He promised that when all this happened . . ."The fans would be hanging from the Olympia rafters". And he was right!

Lindsay made numerous changes; changes that involved no less than 41 players, acquisitions, draft signings, dismisals. And in one year, the Detroit Red Wings went from the worst team in the NHL (41 points) to a second-place Norris Division finish. By virtue of their second-place finish the Wings qualified for the playoffs, eliminating the Atlanta Flames two games in a row; and gave the Montreal Canadiens "a run for their money" before being eliminated in the quarter finals.

It was no surprise when Ted Lindsay was selected as 1977-78 NHL Executive of the Year by the writers and editors of the Hockey News, and overall Executive of the Year by the Sporting News.

Ted has always been an advocate of hard work and dedication . . . "I've always been a believer of hard work," Lindsay said. "If you put in the hours and the hard work, a man has to be successful."As a leftwinger from 1944-1957, Ted helped the Red Wings to four Stanley Cups, eight league titles and was voted a record eight consecutive times to the NHL's first All-Star team. He played on the most renowned line in hockey history the Production Line, with Gordie Howe and Sid Abel. He was a true competitor on the ice, popular with fans and management, and ranks among the top scorers of all time. Until a few seasons ago, he was the penalty champ with 2,002 minutes (more that 33 hours in the penalty box). He holds the record for most goals scored in an All-Star game by one player (three) in 1950 when the Red Wings beat the All-Stars 7-1. That same year, he won the league-scoring championship. He was traded to Chicago prior to the 1957-58 season, played three seasons and then retired after the 1959-60 campaign. But then after four years of retirement, Ted shocked the hockey world by announcing his comeback with Detroit for the 1964-65 season - and was an inspiration in the Wings winning the Price of Wales Trophy. He retired again, this time to stay, after that season with a career record of 379 goals and 472 assists in his 17 NHL seasons.

Ted has been honored in the Sports Hall of Fame, the Red Wings Hall of Fame and in 1966 was inducted into the NHL Hockey Hall of Fame.

June 28, 1978 over 1,500 people paid honor to Ted Lindsay at his testmonial dinner at the Detroit Plaza Hotel. Hockey greats and veterans Toe Blake, King Clancy, Milt Schmidt, Tommy Ivan and Sid Abel were on hand to share in the festivities and tributes.

ROBERT DAVID KROMM
(Coach)

If you were to call last season a most gratifying one for the Red Wings and Bobby Kromm, the Wings' fiery coach, no one would argue.

A 37-point improvement, the biggest point improvement by any team in the last 20 years, tells the story of the fantastic job by Bobby Kromm in only his rookie year in the NHL. Kromm made players that were first-round draft choices play up to their potential, blended the young and the veterans into a team which earned second-place in the Norris Division, and reached the quarter-final playoffs.

For his efforts, Bobby Kromm was awarded the Jack Adams Trophy for the "NHL Coach of the Year" selected by the NHL Broadcasters. A well deserved honor.

"Bobby has worked miracles with this team," declared Ted Lindsay. "He believes in hard work, and has the respect of the players. He runs an excellent, organized practice as a teacher. He's especially good with our youngsters, demonstrating the necessary patience. I have total and complete confidence in him."

Kromm was born in Calgary, Alberta, but he and wife Gerri lived almost 20 years in Trail British Columbia where Bobby played and later coached the Senior Canadian Trail Smoke Eaters. During his coaching years, Trail won the World Championship in 1961, and later won the Canadian Senoir Championship.

From Trail, Kromm joined the Chicago Black Hawk organization, coaching the Dallas Black Hawks in the Central Hockey League for eight seasons (1967-68 thru 1974-75). His team finished first three times, second twice, and third twice and were only out of the playoffs once (in 1969-70). The Black Hawks, under Kromm's guidance, won the Jack Adams Cup (symbolic of CHL supremacy) three times and Bobby was voted Coach of the Year in 1972.

However, after eight seasons in the Central League, and seeing no immediate changes within the Chicago organization. Bobby accepted the coaching duties of the Winnipeg Jets of the WHA. In his first season with Winnipeg (1975-76), the team finished first and went on to defeat the Houston Aeros in the final round of the playoffs to earn the Avco Cup. In the 1976-77 season, the Jets were eliminated in the seventh game of the final round by the Quebec Nordiques.

Bobby, wife Gerri and their four children make their home in the Detroit area.

Says owner Bruce Norris: "Bobby has a style, knows what he wants and how to do it. I think he is a very well-established coach; and I think he is doing exactly what I expected he would do . . .and what I expect a good coach can do."

JIM SKINNER
Assistant General Manager

If you want to know anything about hockey - especially the Red Wings - go to the expert! Jim Skinner, assistant general manager for the Detroit Hockey Club, has been with the organization since the late Jack Adams hired him in 1954 to fill the big order of coaching the Red Wings. He achieved the ultimate success in his rookie year - a Stanley Cup Winner. Since retiring as coach in 1958, Jim assumed the duties as head scout and in 1973 was appointed assistant general manager.

To sum up his contributions for the club, general manager Ted Lindsay would say, "invaluable."

Before joining the Wings, Skinner was respected throughout the league for his achievements in junior hockey in Hamilton and Windsor. Many remember Skinner's uncanny skill at spotting future NHL talent, and in developing young players. He will continue this season as assistant general manager, with special emphasis on off-ice counseling and player dealings.

When not thinking "hockey", Jim Skinner is thinking "fishing"; and spends the off season with family at their summer home near Lockport, Manitoba on Lake Winnipeg.

BILLY DEA
Special Assignments

Billy Dea played 19 years of professional hockey before retiring after the 1971-72 season to serve as coach and general manager of the Detroit Junior Wings for two seasons. He was then "called up" to assume the assistant coaching duties for the Red Wings under Alex Delvecchio and Larry Wilson. Billy is now considered Ted Lindsay's and Bobby Kromm's extra set of eyes and ears during Red Wing games, and is often called upon to travel with the team or go out of town on scouting and special assignments.

Dea is an advocate of total health fitness following a daily program of proper diet and exercises, setting an example for team players and management.

Born in Edmonton, Alberta, Billy spends most of the summer representing the Red Wings at many local public and charity golf outings.

BUDD LYNCH

Director of Public Relations

After twenty-five illustrious years as "Voice of the Wings" on radio and TV, Budd Lynch hung up his microphone in the summer of 1975 and assumed the duties of Director of Public Relations for the Detroit Hockey Club. It's a job well suited for someone with his ability to communicate and make friends easily. No one tells the Red Wings' story better than Budd.

"Public Relations is dealing with many different people. Basically, rather than public relations, it's human relations. We provide all the necessary day-to-day information to the fans and media. A challenging but rewarding job."

Budd, who was a past president of Detroit Sports Broadcasters Association, has been involved in Detroit broadcasting throughout the years handling college football at the University of Michigan and Michigan State - as well as working the Detroit Lions home games with the late Harry Wismer.

Prior to his position as Red Wings' P.R. Director, Budd was also broadcasting with the Television Network Originations in Detroit. His broadcast credits also include producer-director of the Armed Forces Originiations with Canada's CBC International Service in Montreal, and BBC in London, England.

On the personal side, Budd is the father of six daughters. Even though hockey is his number-one sport, he enjoys an occasional game of golf where he shoots in the 80's.

AL COATES

Director of Publicity and Promotions

Al joined the Detroit organization in 1971-72 as trainer and business manager for the Wings' farm club operations in Norfolk, Virginia and Europe (London Lions). He relocated to Detroit before the 1975-76 season and assumed the duties as Director of Publicity and Promotions. Besides keeping the media informed as to the developments of the club, Al's busy arranging public appearances and interviews with players, compiling information and statistics for home games, traveling with the team, and handling special promotions such as "Free Stick Day" and "Free Puck Day". During the summer he is involved with season ticket sales and renewals. This past June, Al teamed up with Budd Lynch to coordinate and host the Wings' First Annual Red Wings Golf Tournament, with proceeds going to crippled children.

At the beginning of last season, Coach Larry Wilson said, "I won't promise you a championship team, but I will promise the fans of Kansas City a hardhitting, aggressive team." And that's exactly what they got. While the K.C. Red Wings did not make it to the play-offs during their first season in Kemper Arena, many of the players captured individual honors in the Central Hockey League and the Kansas City fans turned out to break two attendance records in the C.H.L. (13,204 on Dec. 9, 1977; 14,092 on Feb. 17, 1978). It has been an uncertain summer of 1978, with the hockey fans of Kansas City wondering if they would ever see hockey again. But Red Wings' general manager Ted Lindsay announced that he would again put a team in the C.H.L. in Kemper Arena. And much to the delight of the Kansas City fans, Mr. Lindsay signed a three year extension on the lease, proving Detroit's intention of keeping hockey in Kansas City.

The Kalamazoo Wings has "a new look . . . for a new season". The affiliation with the Detroit Red Wings and Kalamazoo, one of Detroit's farm teams, has become strengthened this season with the appointment of Bill Purcell, the K-Wings' new coach, and the committment by Detroit to supply players to their I.H.L. affiliate.

Bob Lemieux
General Manager

Semi-finalists in last season's I.H.L. Turner Cup Race, the Wings intend to continue pursuit of the high degree of excellence needed to capture the prestigious award. With the talent acquired in this year's draft by Detroit and the utilization of Kalamazoo as the initial developing phase for future Red Wings by concetrating the majority of the young players in Kalamazoo under the tutelage of a Detroit coach, Kalamazoo has high hopes for the 1978-79 season.

Bill Purcell
Coach

Bob Lemieux has been a part of the Detroit Red Wings orginization for seven years. He will continue his post as general manager in Kalamazoo, combining his expertise in business and his love of hockey to make the K-Wings an I.H.L. winner.

The Detroit-sponsored Junior Red Wings finished in second place in the Great Lakes Junior Hockey League for 1977-78 (and were eliminated for the first time in three years in the sem-finals of the playoffs). In the three years as a member of G.L.J.H.L., the Junior Wings have played a total of 165 games and have lost only 35.

Tom Wilson
General Manager

In addition, the Junior Wings have won the Junior U.S. National Championships once and were runner-up once. Juniors have had players drafted by Montreal, New York Islanders, Philadelphia, Chicago, St. Louis and Buffalo, all of the National Hockey League; as well as clubs in the Internationl Hockey League and the World Hockey Association. In the past seven years, the Junior Wings have had one of their players elected as Junior All American, who is annually recognized during the NHL Lester Patrick Dinner in New York.

John Rea
Coach

Tom Wilson and John Rea will continue this season with the Wings' organization to again form a winning combination as general manager and coach.

Sold by Baltimore to Winnipeg, February, 1975

Selected by Cleveland in WHA special draft of defunct teams, June, 1975.

Signed as free agent by Calgary following demise of Minnesota, January, 1977.

NHL rights traded by DETROIT to Colorado for future considerations, February 1, 1977.

Signed as free agent by DETROIT, August 17, 1977.

This is Danny's second tour of duty with Detroit . . .Was drafted by the Wings in 1972, but spent two seasons in the minors, tieing for the Central Hockey League's scoring championship in 1972-73 . . .Also led the CHL in penalty minutes that same season . . .Jumped to the WHA in 1974, playing for five different teams in the league, before returning to the NHL in 1977 . . . Was assigned to the Wings' Kansas City farm club prior to the start of the 1977-78 season . . .Injured his knee in Kansas City's opening game and sat out most of the season recovering from surgery . . .A good, tough, two-way forward, Danny will be looking for a spot on this year's Wing's roster . . .Says General Manager Ted Lindsay: "Danny is an aggressive type of player. I'm glad to have him back with our organization." . . .Made a strong come-back in Kansas City, was voted CHL Player-of-the-Week . . .Only player in CHL to score four goals in a single game (6-2 in Dallas; four goals and one assist). . .

Traded by Los Angeles with Dan Maloney and 2nd round Amateur 1976 NHL draft choice to DETROIT for Marcel Dionne and Bart Crashley, June 23, 1975.

Terry was the backbone and stabilizing force for an otherwise inexperienced Detroit defense last season . . .He finished the season as Detroit's best plus/minus player, as well as one of the league leaders . . .He was selected as the Labatt's Best Defenseman, as well as the For'em Club's "Unsung Hero" . . .He has missed out on playoff action in only four of his sixteen NHL seasons . . .A steady defenseman, Harper continually keeps the opposition off balance . . .Says General Manager Ted Lindsay: "Terry is not the smoothest defenseman, but he is the stabilizer back there for us. As slow as he looks, he is doing the job that Bobby(Kromm) and I want him to do." . . .Has participated in four NHL All-Star games . . . Says teamate Jim Rutherford: "Terry always takes the man out in front of the net, and always gets the puck out of trouble. He's really a goaltender's bestfriend." . . .Coach Kromm agrees: "Harper's style isn't appreciated by the fans sometimes, but those fans don't really understand the game. Terry's meant everything to our defense last year, particularly with the young guys that we have." . . .Terry owns and operates a Bonanza V35, a six-seater aircraft . . .

Detroit's number-two draft choice in 1976, Reed signed with the Wings after starring for the University of Minnesota where he chose hockey instead of football . . .His 60 points last season (shared by Barry Beck of Colorado) was an NHL record by rookie defensemen . . .Finished third in team scoring, first in assists (41) . . .Represented Detroit in the 1977-78 NHL All-Star game . . . Reed, who can also play right wing, has a booming slapshot which has made him an offensive threat . . .Says goalie Ron Low: "I faced a lot of shots during my stint with the Caps, but no shooter fired the puck harder than Wing's Reed Larson. No matter what anyone says, Bobby Hull never shot the puck as hard as Reed does." . . .Set every team scoring record for defensemen, except for most goals in one season, which is held by "Flash" Hollett (20) . . .A very likeable person, Reed is referred to as "Mr. Hockey" by his teammates . . .According to teammate and captain Dennis Hextall: "Reed is going to be one of the better defensemen in the league in years to come. The kid just skates and shoots so well." . . .Says Terry Harper: "He moves so effortlessly. He's got a lot of talent." . . .Larson was the recipient of the Stu Evans Trophy, as the team's Most Sportsmanlike Player . . .Recovered from a broken vertebrae in his sophomore season at Minnesota . . .Missed five games last season due to an injured thumb . . .Enjoys many water sports, including fishing and water skiing, as well as golf and softball . . .Just recently married, Reed and wife Kathy make their off-season home in Minnesota where they own a cabin . . .

a Won WHA's Most Sportsmanlike Player Award

Traded by Birmingham (WHA) with Tim Sheehy to DETROIT for Steve Durbano, Dave Hanson and future considerations, November 15, 1977.

Came to the Wings during the 1977-78 season in the fifth official NHL-WHA trade . . .Was very instrumental in last season's stretch drive for second place . . .Was the leading scorer for the Wings in the 1977-78 playoffs (3 goals and 5 assists) . . .Shifted from center to right wing during the post-season games . . .Coach Bobby Kromm: "Maybe it doesn't look like Vaclav is a good skater, but I'll tell you, he can skate like hell." . . .Played 11 seasons with the Czech Nationals . . .Voted MVP in the 1973 World Tournament. . .He is a former Czech junior tennis champion, who also played soccer in the National League . . .Scored five goals in one WHA game . . . Nicknamed "Ned" or "Big Ned" . . .Says friend and teammate Dennis Hull: "Ned is probably one of the finest centermen I've seen play. Even though he is trying to adjust to the NHL, he's always been a goal scorer, and one night he's going to score three or four." . . .Rated as Europe's all-time greats . . .According to Gordie Howe, the Wings' all-time high scorer, and the NHL's all-time point king now playing with New England Whalers of WHA: "Big Ned is an outstanding acquisition. He should score 30 goals for Detroit. He does what Phil Espositio does in the slot - takes up space, gets the puck and snaps shot on goal." . . .Spends the off-season in Toronto with his wife and son . . .Enjoys traveling and water skiing . . . Quoting former New York Rangers general manager John Ferguson: "Detroit has completely changed their image. And Nedomansky is a new dimension which will take some getting used to when dealing with the Red Wings. He is a monster in front of the goal - the defensemen around the league have just been given a king-sized headache." . . .

Selected by DETROIT from Montreal in NHL waiver draft, October, 1977.

Acquired by the Wings in the 1977 Intra-League draft from the Montreal Canadiens organization . . .Was a member of the 1975-76 and 1976-77 Calder Cup champion Nova Scotia Voyagers . . A speedster on skates, Paul makes things happen when he is on the ice . . ."He skates so smooth and easy, just like a Montreal Canadien," said General Manager Ted Lindsay, after acquiring Woods . . .Ted Lindsay also claims the $50,000 price the Wings paid to get Woods was the best investment the team has made so far . . .Paul was a member of the Wings' new "Kid Line", with Dale McCourt at center and Bill Lochead on right wing . . . Paul was selected Detroit's Most Exciting Player of 1977-78 by the Travelers Club . . .He also received the most number-one star selections among Red Wings players last season . . . Coach Bobby Kromm: "Eventually he's going to be a 25-30 goal scorer, but in the meantime he does so many things for you. He's always giving 200% out there." . . .Woods had a fine playoff series, recording five assists and finishing third in team scoring . . .Says teammate Dennis Hextall: "Woodsy is amazing. His value isn't in scoring 25-30 goals a season, it's his hustle. For all the assignments he gets, killing penalties and all, as a first-year man, it really shows his value." . . .Played center in the American Hockey League . . .Woods, whose lifetime dream was to play in the NHL, is single and makes his off-season home in Meaford Ontario . . .He enjoys golf, fishing and water skiing . . . Was a big help to the P.R. department assisting with many charity-oriented banquets and programs . . .Past summer was involved in hockey school in Tecumseh, Ontario along with Jim Rutherford and Ted Bulley . . .

Jacques Plante, Andy Bathgate and Marcel Pronovost were inducted in the NHL Hockey Hall of Fame, September, 1978. Both Bathgate and Pronovost played with the Red Wings during their hockey careers.

Bathgate was a marvelous skater and deft puck-handler. Even though he was plagued throughout his career with knee troubles, he missed only five games in nine seasons with the Rangers. He was traded to Toronto in 1963-64, and played on his only Stanley Cup winner. He was acquired in 1965 by Detroit and played two seasons before going to Pittsburgh in the 1967 expansion draft. Bathgate was named twice to each of the NHL's first and second All-Star teams. Off the ice, he has been an excellent example to youth, never too busy to work with them, and is a well known professional golfer.

Marcel Pronovost played 20 seasons in the NHL, 15 with Detroit and five with Toronto. He was on seven championship teams, and four Stanley Cup winners with Detroit - adding another Stanley Cup triumph with the Leafs in 1967. He was also voted to NHL All-Star teams four times, twice each to the first and second teams. He was a source of counsel to younger players in the dressing room, and was always a fan favorite - even with the opponent's fans. Pronovost retired after the 1969-70 season, and became coach at Tulsa of the CHL. He is presently the coach of the very successful NHL Buffalo Sabres.

The Red Wings are very pleased to have had Andy Bathgate and Marcel Pronovost as part of their organization.
